

RNIB

We believe that local TNs are a very effective channel for blind people to get vital information about products and services to support them in everyday life. We want to provide you with audio files which you can easily include in your magazine programmes so that more people get to know about what's available.

Every month we will provide new content for you to download and use freely with some text describing the content which you could use to introduce it.

Every day we meet people who tell us "I had never heard of that product. It will be really useful for me and I wish I'd heard about it years ago..." So we hope very much that by downloading our audio files with information about new products you will play a key role in improving the information and help people get it.

Please do tell us if the way we provide the information or the content or style isn't suitable for your publications and we will do our best to respond. Call us on 01733 37 52 49 or email us at productnews@rnib.org.uk
